

A map showing the location of Le Ponton, a small village in the south of France. The map features a river (likely the Gardon) flowing through the area, with a road (D900) running alongside it. A red pin marks the location of Le Ponton, which is situated near the river and the road. The surrounding area includes fields and some buildings.

Vue du site

